

ŘEKNI (SAY FIRST)

- Game for 3 to 5 players.
- Length approximately 15 minutes.
- The object of the game is to go around the whole circle by saying words first.

Preparation:

Select topics and place them on the game board. If you have a boxed version, select six themes. In the case of the travel version, five themes are played.

How to play:

Each player places his game piece on the space marked "START". The player with the smallest little toe starts the game. This person draws the first token with a letter from the bag and reads it out loud. Other players must say the word starting with the letter as quickly as possible. The word must correspond to the topic where the player is on the game board. For example, a player standing in the STATE section says a state starting with the letter drawn.

The player who says the word first moves his game piece in the direction of the arrows by as many spaces as his just uttered word has syllables (CANADA – 4 spaces).

The player who draws the letter does not say any word. At the same time, this player is a referee for situations where others cannot agree on anything. If other players think that their word has been uttered first, it is up to the referee who should move his game piece forward on the board.

The player who drew the letter returns the token and gives the bag clockwise to the other player. He draws a new letter, thus starting the next round of the game. Remember to mix the letters before each draw so that the letters are repeated as little as possible.

If the player stops on the space with a cross, he does not play in the next round. When it is the player's turn to draw the letter, it is the same as if he did not play one round.

In a three-player game, there may be situations where one draws, one stands on the cross and one says a word. In this case, both players are guessing (the one standing on the cross and the one not standing on the cross). If the player standing on the cross says the word first, he does not move forward.

The game ends when one of the players crosses the START space by going around the whole circle. The other players can see their succession according to the location on the game board i.e., the closer to the goal (START space) they are, the higher their succession is.

Before playing, we recommend that players clarify the rules for selected topics.
